

HØEGH CAPITAL PARTNERS

Company: Høegh Capital Partners

Role: Spring Intern 2026

Dates: For discussion with successful applicants

Location: London

About Us

Høegh Capital Partners is the investment advisor to Aequitas Limited, an industrial investment company formed as a partnership between the families of Leif O. Høegh and Morten W. Høegh.

Aequitas's investment strategy is equity oriented and conviction-led, leveraging its experience, network and financial strength. It is a long-term active owner of capital-intensive operating companies and complementary financial assets, seeking to create value through cycles. Innovation, sustainability and alignment with key stakeholders are cornerstones to its multi-generational approach.

Job Description

The company is looking for a Spring Intern to join its London-based investment team. The Intern will be part of a young and motivated group, working closely with senior investment team members and Partners.

The team provides corporate finance, strategy, and advisory services to Aequitas and its affiliated entities, covering its operating businesses, and its financial investments across asset classes and the liquidity spectrum (i.e. private equity, hedge funds, equities, and credit). The Intern will fill a generalist role within the team's advisory services and will have exposure to every stage of the investment process from asset allocation strategy through to investment selection and execution.

Over the course of the internship the successful candidate will participate in the team's core investment activities, which may include:

- Research and analysis into candidate investment opportunities, (this may include both public and private as well as candidate private equity and hedge fund opportunities),
- Financial statement analysis and financial modelling,
- Researching industries and markets,
- Preparation of discussion materials (including presentations to Partners, quarterly reporting and Board presentations),
- Monitoring the existing portfolio (including research, risk measurement and valuation),
- Formulating client asset allocation strategies.

About You

The successful candidate will possess the following key attributes:

- Passion for investments and financial markets,
- High degree of numerical, verbal and analytical competence,
- Strategic thinking and thorough problem solving,
- Strong self-motivational skills and ability to work independently,
- Strong interpersonal skills and a teamwork ethic,
- Experience working within Microsoft Office,
- Scandinavian language skills, with a preference for Norwegian.

Students from all degrees will be considered, however a high-level of numerical literacy is required. The applicant must be enrolled in a master's program, with a strong academic track record.

Please submit your application within three weeks of the posting date to recruitment@hoegh.co.uk.
